

Alina Hagel | Working student

Verification systems - Certification - Green electricity

Alina Hagel's focus at Hamburg Institut lies in the field of verification systems, certification and green electricity. In particular, she is working on the topic of guarantees of origin for green hydrogen and is also writing her Master's thesis on this topic in cooperation with us.

Alina Hagel is studying Interdisciplinary Public and Nonprofit Studies at the University of Hamburg. Before joining Hamburg Institut, she worked as a student assistant in sustainability consulting and completed an internship at the Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) in Bonn.

Consultancy and research focus

- Green hydrogen
- Verification systems
- Certification
- Green electricity

Qualification and career

Since 2024	Working student at Hamburg Institut
Since 2021	M. Sc. Interdisciplinary Public and Nonprofit Studies , University of Hamburg
2022	Student Assistant Sustainability Consultancy, Schlange, Zamoszny (S&Z) & Co. GmbH, Hamburg
2021 – 2022	Intern , Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH, Initiative for Sustainable Agricultural Supply Chains, Bonn
2019 – 2021	Student assistant , secretariat, Hamburger Hochbahn AG
2018 – 2021	B.A. Social Economics , University of Hamburg
2018	Intern , Karlsruher Messe und Kongress GmbH