

Annalena Hoff | Junior Project Engineer

Heat planning – Large-scale heat pump

Annalena Hoff supports Hamburg Institut in particular in the area of large-scale heat pumps and heat planning. She is currently studying Renewable Energy Systems, Environmental and Process Engineering at HAW Hamburg.

Before joining Hamburg Institut, Annalena Hoff gained experience as a working student, intern and Bachelor student at BET Office for Energy Management and Technical Planning GmbH in Aachen and as a student assistant.

Consultancy and research focus

- Large-scale heat pump
- Heat planning

Qualification and career

Since 2022	Junior Project Engineer at Hamburg Institut
Since 2022	M. Sc. Renewable Energy Systems , Environmental and Process Engineering, HAW Hamburg
2021 – 2022	Working student , BET office for energy management and technical planning GmbH, Aachen
2020 – 2021	Practical semester and Bachelor thesis , BET office for energy management and technical planning GmbH, Aachen
2020	Student assistant , process engineering, Hochschule Rhein-Waal, Kleve
2017 – 2021	B.Sc. Industrial Engineering , focus on Field Process Engineering, Hochschule Rhein-Waal, Kleve